Weston High School
Weston,
Massachusetts

In retrospect

One hundred years ago, in 1854-1855, at the birth of the Republican Party, free secondary education was initiated in Weston. At first the school was exclusively for those boys who wished to go to Harvard. The subjects taught were English, Latin, Greek, and Mathematics. Soon the enrollment increased, and girls began to attend. The number and variety of courses expanded. The school had grown to such an extent that it became necessary to have a building for the school alone, instead of using the Town House.

From there the curriculum expanded still further to include such activities as sports, clubs, and student organizations, covering a large variety of interests.

And now, in 1954-1955, the end of our one hundredth year, we are a modern school with countless opportunities offered to every student, with any and every interest. From here a student can go to college, a specialized school, or directly enter the business world. Now, one hundred full and eventful years have passed and we, the senior class, open the door of a new century, full of bright new opportunities for those who follow in our footsteps here at Weston High School.

With us he's tops!

Mr. Paul M. Mitchell

It was just three years ago that you came to us, and in that brief span of time you have made for yourself a permanent place in our hearts.

You have guided and nurtured our Student Council into an organization with a purpose and effectiveness of which the entire student body can be proud.

To know and understand us as individuals and to give to us a richer and more rewarding education has been your sole ambition.

In appreciation for all you have done for us and for the High School as a whole, we, the class of 1955, dedicate this, our yearbook, to you.

Every organization needs leaders to guide its activities. We at Weston High School have been very fortunate in having an exceptional staff completely devoted to the welfare of the students and the promotion of a higher standard of secondary education. They have achieved a very effective balance between interest and friendliness and the necessary recognition of the rules and regulations which keep our school system in harmony and make it what we consider the best.

Sally Perkins

On December 17, Thursday evening, the curtain rose on one of Weston High School's most successful plays, "Mother Is A Freshmen" under the able direction of Mr. Zorn. Sally Perkins, a seasoned actress, gave an outstanding performance as leading lady. A newcomer to show business, Roger Condit, did a fine job as leading man. The supporting cast included Nancy Foster, Janet Tomlinson, Corinne Carlough, Terry McGuire, Andrea Sullivan, Sue Wilson, Judy Wetzel, Martin Pollock, Joanna Blake, Tom Malamud, Judy Wilkinson, Jerry Benedict, Ed Ellis, and Craig Jameson.

Mr. Zorn warns, "Two minutes to curtain time."

The "Stairway to Paradise" and glittering mobiles

The Prom opens with general dancing.

The climax of our undergraduate years through the eleventh grade was our JUNIOR PROM which was held at the Weston High School on May 14, 1954. This is our most formal dance and is given in honor of the Senior class. Music for dancing was furnished by Herbie Sulkin's Orchestra. The decorations featured an airy "Stairway to Paradise" which ended amongst star-studded mobiles.

Ellen Jo Connolly is crowned queen by her partner, Edward Haynes, and is admired by her court, Judith Jones, Ellen Linder, Mary Porter, Marguerite Ide, Sylvia Tilly, and Mary Kelly.

We were grateful to have Superintendent Gross and his wife, Principal Mueller and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, Miss Green, Mr. and Mrs. Burn (school committee), and class parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock and Mr. and Mrs. Harnish in our receiving line.

The grand march, led by the class officers and their partners, is a colorful prelude to the selection of the queen and her court.

Guests at prom enjoy dancing prior to the grand march.

During intermission the refreshment table is thronged.

The planning was done by Joanna Blake, orchestra; Stephen Spooner, decorations; Amy Argento, general chairman; Robert Harnish, tickets; Mrs. Zamprogno, advisor; Donald Bassett, publicity; (not shown) Margie Corbiere, invitations; and Abigail Cole, refreshments.

The Senior Student Council is composed of representatives from grades 7-12; while the Junior Student Council is made up of grades 7-8 only. The purposes of this organization are: to take care of student problems; to deal with matters of school spirit and good citizenship; to represent fairly the interests of all student groups, and to promote and foster the general welfare of the school as well as its good name and reputation.

The School Science Fair in the spring is the most important project of the Science Club, which sponsors and organizes it. During the school year this active club affords its members opportunities to learn about science through experimentation and observation.

The Math Club's activities include, in addition to informative meetings, the making of projects which are used as teaching aids. This year, their big objective is the publication of a handbook of mathematical projects. The Club has become well known through its exhibits which have been shown by Miss Green at several mathematical conventions. The members of the club learn that mathematics can be fun.

After trembling through voice tests, the Glee Club finally settled down to vigorous practicing and learning to read music at sight under the supervision of Mr. Phillips. Their choral arrangements are welcomed at school assemblies and request appearances. This year the group was considered professional enough to have recorded their singing of Fred Waring's "Christmas Song."

The orchestra, under the able guidance of Mr. Phillips, is rapidly becoming an organization of which the school can be very proud. They made their debut this year at the school play.

Our band is a tuneful addition to the football games and school assemblies. Under the devoted and skillful supervision of Mr. Phillips the band has grown from a few assorted members to a harmonious organization of which the school is very proud.

Pert Judy Wetzel smilingly leads our band.

These six attractive girls have worked hard and have the distinction of being the first successful majorette group in Weston High School. They have added much color and spirit to the band, which the school applauds.

The competent staff of "The Weston Smoke Signal" has done a very commendable job in the newspaper's first year of publication. They have worked hard and proven to the school that a newspaper can be a very essential addition.

Promoters of brotherhood in a troubled world . . .

With the help of Ursele Fischbach, our exchange student from Rombas, the Affiliation Committee has been able to carry on a successful correspondence with students our age in the College de Rombas, and to inform our students more about life there. Another of the Committee's projects, the selling of Weston-Rombas Christmas Cards, had more than its usual success this year.

While doing various jobs in the library, these pupils become better acquainted with books, magazines, and the general set-up of libraries. Our school library is organized like college and public libraries, and past library assistants have found that their experience has stood them in good stead in college.

The competent office assistants gain valuable experience in office procedure as well as doing a service to the school. They soon find that answering the telephone and using the P.A. system is not as terrifying as it would appear.

One Hundred, usually muddy,

From the large turnout of candidates it looked as if Coach Kelley, in his first year at Weston, would be able to produce a championship football team for 1954.

Unscored against in their first three games it seemed as if Weston were going to enjoy a glorious season. Johnson and Cohasset were easily smothered and Ashland was held scoreless, although they presented some stiff competition. Then Foxboro and Scituate shattered our hopes.

Back on the victory trail, the team disposed of Westwood and supposedly powerful Chemsford and easily won against Lynn Trade.

On Thanksgiving morning, the Townies, playing a postponed game in the rain, ran into a stone wall in the form of our rival Wayland.

Weston finished the season with a 6-3 record. Tom Cronin was the highest scorer on the team and the second highest in the district with 89 points.

A ball, a hockey stick, and a will to win . . .

The 1954 hockey team had a successful season with four wins, one tie, and one loss. Three afternoons a week, between thirty and forty girls could be seen on the playing field, being drilled in new techniques by Mrs. Mula, while building up their experience and team work to a high level. Despite the loss of three players, the team is sure to be outstanding and victorious next fall.

Our 1954 basketball squad had a full season this year with nine games as compared to last year's six. Mrs. Mula taught the girls many trick plays which helped them toward their many victories. Cambridge School, Watertown, and Wellesley proved too much for our squad, but when given a second chance, they completely toppled Wellesley 22-16 in what the girls considered their best game of the season. The team will have lost four players next fall, but a very fine group of veterans will remain.

Hail Champs! A striking example of sportsmanship

A large number of boys tried out for the basketball team but that certain number of uniforms didn't seem to get any larger and some candidates had to be dropped.

Weston won eighteen straight games this year, a record of which both the team and the school can be justly proud. The first game with Sudbury, which went into double overtime, proved to be the most challenging, although all the games had their exciting moments.

Climaxing this second straight undefeated season, Weston's team journeyed to the Boston Garden where they won the Class D Championship of the Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tournament, beating Sudbury, Yarmouth, and Perley.

The games at the Garden were attended by almost every person in the school. Seven busses were used for each game and were adorned with maroon and gray streamers and huge signs. There were also many similarly decorated private cars.

The scoring of another basket is enthusiastically hailed with clouds of paper and screams of joy from Weston's cheerleaders, Jean Havey, Dottie White, Donna Cugini, Judy Ferries, Nancy White, Anna Melone, Lisa Weidig, and Arlene Barbetti.

Lee Hitchcock and Artie Mason led the team in scoring honors. Both players provided plenty of fast-breaking thrills. John Ferries, the steadiest player on the team, and Bill Healey, a sophomore, formed a perfect guard combination. Steve Spooner, center, was an excellent rebounder and foiled many of our opponents' shots.

A salute to another championship team . . .

In 1954 Weston captured the Dual County League baseball crown with the enviable record of being undefeated in six straight games. Five independent games were played against Middlesex, Maynard, Ashland, and the Newton Junior Varsity. This gave the team an overall record of eight wins and three losses. Bob Howell (.400), John Ferries (.375), and Bill Healey (.370) led the squad in batting averages. Pitching results were: John Whitney (3-1), Bill Howell (2-1), John Ferries (2-0), and Andy Taylor (1-1).

The 1954 softball team had all the drive and spirit a coach could ask for. Nevertheless, they lost their first game 10-11 to Wayland and their second, 14-15 to Wellesley. In their third game, they were again defeated by Wayland with a one point loss of 15-16. Sudbury and Concord also proved to be too much for Weston to handle, with scores of 4-7 and 6-10, respectively. However, they wound up the year with a smashing victory of 21-2 over Cambridge School at the end of 2 innings.

Two new teams show Weston's undaunted spirit . . .

Tennis is a relatively new sports activity at Weston High. There were only seven girls on the 1954 tennis team, but with the increasing interest shown in this team and the school's rapid rate of growth, tennis promises to produce another successful Weston team in the near future.

And, we, the staff of the 1955 Centennial, have tried to produce a pictorial review of Weston High School in its one-hundredth year. We shall not soon forget the meetings in Mr. Sawyer's lab, the sudden interest in the dark room, the pictures missing from Miss Green's file, and the many afternoons spent at school in order to meet deadlines.

Out of all this we hope we have created a memorable account of a school, a class, and a year without parallel in our existence.

In the last one-hundred years Weston High School has had many graduates who have gone into interesting fields of work. We are, of course, especially interested in the class of 1954 for we know them well. We have also selected two former graduates who are doing unusual work and about whom we could obtain the most complete reports. We, The Class of 1955, honor the W.H.S. alumni.

WESTON BLAKE, JR.

Westy in the Arctic

Research in the field of geography and geology has proved an interesting vocation for Weston Blake, Jr. (Westy) W. H. S., Class of 1947. After earning his A. B. from Dartmouth in 1951 with a major in geology, he attended the Summer School of Geology at McGill University. There he became research assistant in geography while studying for the M. S. degree which he won in 1953. During that time he assisted in physiographic and glaciological studies on the Grinnell Icecap, Baffin Island, North West Territory, Canada, under the auspices of the Arctic Institute of North America; aerial photography and interpretation of physiography in the Goose Bay area of Labrador, for the Canadian Defense Research Board; and an oceanographic expedition for the U. S. Office of Naval Research near N. W. River, Labrador. In 1953 he was inducted into the army and in '54 began his present research on the Greenland Icecap near Thule Airbase. He intends to return to graduate school after his army service where he will work on his Ph. D. in glacial geology, after which he intends to continue field work in the Arctic and Antarctic.

DOUGLAS HENDERSON

Weston High School is proud to have an alumnus in the United States Embassy at Berne, Switzerland. Douglas Henderson, of the depression class of 1932, could not go immediately to college so took a post graduate course in H. S., worked for 3 years, and in 1936, with the aid of a scholarship, entered Boston University, College of Liberal Arts. In 1940 he was awarded the Bachelor's degree "with honor" and "with distinction" and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He was offered a teaching fellowship in the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts College where he studied for his Master's degree in International Law. In February of his final year, having passed the required written and oral examinations, he was appointed Vice Consul in Nogales, Mexico, for two years, then was transferred to Chile and later to Cochabomba, Bolivia. After several years he had become such an authority on South American Trade that he was recalled to the United States and loaned to the Commerce Department for three years. He was then sent to Berne, Switzerland, as Vice-Consul and now holds positions there of Sec. of Embassy and head of the Bureau of Economics

Douglas Henderson and family.

As you step from youth
into manhood

Think;

A positive idea
of benefit to society
crystalized into your goal pursued with courage and faith.

With your faith in your future
and with God's help
The future of America is assured.

A Successful CAREER

A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

. . . of any sort . . . often depends upon "money in the bank". You'll often need it for confidence . . . and for job hunting, new clothes, moving expenses, lean periods, and business opportunities. All might be lost without it.

So, when you think of success, think of saving at the Waltham Savings Bank. We welcome small accounts or small deposits because they're important stepping-stones to success. $1.00 starts an account. Start yours soon.

Congratulations And Best Wishes To The Class of 1955
